MedEvac 1 ready! Sitting on the new helipad is our new MBB (Messerschmitt-Boelkow-Blohm) BO 105 CBS Twin Jet II helicopter. A 1982 stretch model, the craft carries a crew of three and capacity for two litter patients. MedEvac 1 can cruise at 140 mph at a maximum altitude of 17,000 feet, with a range of 350 miles.

Just a reminder that the ASHHC Federal Credit Union, located in the old business office, is open for business Wednesdays and Fridays, 9:00 A.M. to 4:30 P.M.

Although credit union personnel may be in the office at other times, we ask that our customers visit with us only at our scheduled business hours. Unexpected interruptions cut into time appropriated for other business. Your help is greatly appreciated.

Blood donors!

On November 9, the Miller Memorial Blood Center's Bloodmobile will arrive at the Center.

We need 70 donors, plus 10 stand-by donors to give blood, in Classroom 1 and 2, from 9:00 A.M. to 1:00 P.M.

Your donation will help the Blood Center, which serves seven hospitals in Lehigh and Northampton Counties, plus Quakertown Hospital in Bucks County, to meet their goal of 25,000 pints of blood. To schedule a time for your donation, please call Kathy Malone, personnel services, 2658.

Urology Seminar

Urology Update '82 will be held on November 6 at The Holiday Inn West, 9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. The program, sponsored by The Easton PA Chapter of The American Urological Association Allied, is designed for R.N.'s, L.P.N.'s, P.A.'s and other interested allied health personnel. Cost is $25.00 for non-members; $15.00 for members and includes lunch. Registration deadline is October 29. Contact Eileen Young, R.N., 2068.

Internal auditing program debuts

There is a new tool available to hospital administrators and managers that aids in evaluating and measuring the overall fitness of their organizations. Utilized by other industries for some time, internal auditing, as this new program is referred to, will be a shared service of A&SHHC and The Allentown Hospital.

According to program director Richard Walters, internal auditing will provide an "objective and independent appraisal of operational and financial activities" within the two hospitals. "Operational" audits can be performed through cooperation of the management teams of both institutions. This type of audit will show how well the hospitals' objectives are being achieved. Organizational structures, personnel, policies and procedures, financial and physical resources, and even management information systems are studied and evaluated.

"Financial" audits, the traditional type of audit, reviews financial records and reports in order to determine how applicable already general accepted accounting principles are.

Another aspect of internal auditing is that it is a major ingredient in measuring and evaluating the soundness, adequacy and application of an organization's operating internal controls.

As Rich Walters sees it, the internal auditing program will "help improve efficiency and effectiveness and detect any weakness within our internal control systems and help us fully achieve our goals and objectives."

Symposium '82

The upcoming schedule of hospital sponsored professional development programs includes:

The Future of Nursing — Saturday, October 23, 8:15 A.M., in the Hospital Center Auditorium.

Utilization of nursing resources, significant developments and future legal accountability for nursing are a few of the issues which will be addressed at the symposium. Hospital staff members Alverta Stichter, R.N., M.S.N., assistant administrator, nursing services, and Janine Fiesta, R.N., J.D., risk manager, will join Marjorie Beyers, R.N., Ph.D., director, National Commission on Nursing, Chicago, Claire Fagin, R.N., Ph.D., dean and professor, School of Nursing, University of Pennsylvania, and Erlene P. McGriff, R.N., Ed.D., professor and head, nursing division, New York University, on the faculty for the program.

Nursing continuing education credit is available through the Pennsylvania Nurses Association.

There is no fee for A&SHHC employees, however there is a $10.00 fee for student nurses, and a $25.00 fee for all others (includes coffee breaks and lunch).

For registration information, contact the educational development department, 2026.

Peripheral Nerve Disorders — Saturday, November 13, 8:30 A.M., in the Hospital Center auditorium.

"The Diabetic Neuropathies" will be the topic of guest speaker Mark Brown, M.D., associate professor, department of neurology, University of Pennsylvania, for this program which includes discussions by several members of the Hospital Center Staff.

Scheduled presentations include "Peripheral Nerve Disorders in Connective Tissue Diseases" by Kerry Miller, M.D., rheumatologist; "Diagnosis of Upper Extremity Compression Neuropathies" by Peter Barbour, M.D., neurologist; "Treatment of Compression Neuropathies" by David Sussman, M.D., orthopedic surgeon; "Thoracic Outlet Syndrome" by Geoffrey Toonder, M.D., thoracic surgeon; "Peripheral Nerve Disorders Associated with Cancer" by Lawrence Levitt, M.D., neurologist; "Reflex Sympathetic Dystrophy" by Michael Busch, M.D., orthopedic surgeon; "Physical Therapy for Peripheral Nerve Problems" by Richard Steigerwalt, L.P.T., physical therapist; "Cranial Nerve Disorders" by David Tilly, M.D., neurosurgeon; "Microsurgical Approach to Peripheral Nerve Problems" by Harry Stephens, M.D., neurosurgeon; "Neuropathic Disorders of the Foot" by William DeFeo, D.P.M., podiatrist; and "Cutaneous Manifestations of Peripheral Nerve Disorders" by James Wall, M.D., dermatologist.

Registration fee is $15.00, and includes coffee breaks and lunch. Category I credit (4 hours) is available from the American Osteopathic Association and the American Academy of Family Physicians.

For more information, contact educational development, 2026.

Recognition dinner highlights!

Oh, what a night! For over 400 employees and their guests, the third annual Employee Recognition Dinner, held at the Holiday Inn West on October 1, was a night to remember.

Honored at the event were 188 people who reached 5, 10, and 15 year milestones in their career with the Hospital Center, as well as an additional 353 who have 6 years or more of service.

The evening's agenda included a cocktail hour, dinner, a presentation program, and dancing.

Toastmaster Jack Dittbrenner, of biomedical photography fame, delighted the crowd with his charm, wit and observations on hospital life. After remarks by Ellwyn Spiker, administrator, Richard Fleming, president of the board of directors, and Walter J. Okunski, M.D., president of the medical staff, the award ceremony was held.

Presenting service pins, which are custom designed lapel pins bearing the A&SHHC logo, were Gary Steinberg, associate administrator and assistant administrators Philip Brown, Richard Cipoletti, Alverta Stichter, and Edward Hindin, director of planning, and Gale S. Hodovance, director of public relations.

Receiving polished sterling silver pins for recognition of 15 years of service were:

Judith Cihylik John Peeler
Kathryn Kawalewski Nancy A. Wendling

Receiving pewter with blue hard-fired enamel pins in recognition of 10 years of service were:

New clergy arrive — Now in its second year, the pastoral care residency program has welcomed its newest group, consisting of (standing, left to right): Rev. Glenn Heintzelman, an ordained minister of the Moravian Church and a graduate of Moravian Theological Seminary; Rev. James Fatzinger, an ordained minister of the United Church of Christ and a graduate of Lancaster, Pennsylvania Theological Seminary; and Sister Mary Ellen Kozlowski, a Roman Catholic nun of the order of the Servants of the Blessed Sacrament. Seated, left to right are: Rev. Ruth Mullis, an ordained American Baptist minister and a graduate of the Union Theological Seminary, New York City; Chaplain Nancy Adams, a graduate of the Andover-Newton Theological School, Andover, Massachusetts; and Chaplain Sara Davis, who holds a Master's Degree in Christian Education from Scarritt College, Nashville, Tennessee.

Dietetic internship program underway — In the library, Barbara Millenbruch, director of the dietetic internship program (left), orients the new group to the hospital. The program is sponsored by M.W. Wood Enterprises in cooperation with A&SHHC. The future dietitians are prepared for careers in dietetics by experiencing the nutritional aspects of disease, prevention, treatment, control and health maintenance. Donna Freiler, of Immaculate College, Doreen Vidakovich, Indiana University of Pennsylvania, Helene Mosiker, Penn State University, and Carol Schindler, University of Rhode Island, will be here until the middle of July.
